LEUKEMIA & LYMPHOMA SOCIETY

TRANSLATIONAL RESEARCH

DUE: March 1, letter of intent
WRITE: Director of Research Admin.
The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society 1311 Mamaroneck Avenue White Plains, NY 10605
WEB: http://www.leukemia.org/all_page?item_id=11620
E-MAIL: researchprograms@lls.org
PHONE: 914 821-8301

The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society’s Translational Research Program was established to encourage and provide support for new and novel clinical research. The goal of the program is to accelerate transfer of findings from the laboratory to clinical application. The program’s purpose is to fund research that shows high promise for translating basic biomedical knowledge to prevention or new treatments and, ultimately, to prolong and enhance life. The Principal Investigator (P.I.) must hold an M.D., Ph.D., or equivalent degree, and work in domestic or foreign non-profit organizations, such as universities, colleges, hospitals or laboratories. Applications may involve multiple such institutions and the P.I. should have an independent research or academic position. The P.I. need not be a U.S. citizen, and there are no restrictions on age, race, gender or creed. Applications from non-academic facilities are not eligible. Awards will be limited to a maximum of $200,000, which include direct costs and a maximum overhead of $20,000 or 11.1% of direct costs per year for three years. Budget requests should be carefully justified and commensurate with the needs of the project.

JAMES S. MCDONNELL FOUNDATION

21st CENTURY SCIENCE INITIATIVE - RESEARCH AWARDS

DUE: March 17
WRITE: James S. McDonnell Fdn.
1034 South Brentwood Blvd. Suite 1850 St. Louis, MO 63117
WEB: http://www.jafm.org/app/apply/index.htm
E-MAIL: info@jsmf.org
PHONE: 314 721-1532; FAX: 314 721-7421

21st Century Research Awards are designed to support research projects with a high probability of generating new knowledge and insights. Projects submitted for funding consideration should be at an early, even preliminary stage of development, and should be intended to break new ground or to challenge commonly-held assumptions. Projects submitted should be sufficiently novel, cross-disciplinary, or heterodox so that they have a strong likelihood of influencing the development of new ways of thinking about important problems. 21st Century Research Awards provide adequate, flexible funding over a sufficient time period to allow investigators to pursue and develop innovative directions to their research programs. JSMF funds internationally. Applications must be sponsored by a nonprofit institution. Graduate students and postdoctoral fellows are not eligible to apply for 21st Century Research Awards. Applicants must have completed academic training and hold a position compatible with the pursuit of independent research. At most institutions this requirement corresponds to individuals at the assistant professor level and above. Senior scientists must explain, in detail, how they themselves (and not only their research assistants and post-doctoral fellows) will use the requested funds to pursue “break-out” research different from that which is ongoing in their laboratories. A maximum of $450,000 total costs can be requested and the funds can be expended over a minimum of 3 years or a maximum of 6 years. Smaller amounts of money expended over shorter amounts of time may be requested to help investigators pursue pilot projects or test the feasibility of an experimental approach.

AMERICAN PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIETY

PHILLS FUND GRANTS FOR NATIVE AMERICAN RESEARCH

DUE: March 2
WRITE: Phillips Fund for Native American Research American Philosophical Society 104 South Fifth Street Philadelphia, PA 19106
WEB: http://www.amphilsoc.org/grants/philps.htm
E-MAIL: LMusumeci@amphilsoc.org
PHONE: 215 440-3429

The Phillips Fund of the American Philosophical Society provides grants for research in Native American linguistics, ethnohistory, and the history of studies of Native Americans, in the continental United States and Canada. Grants are intended to break new ground or to challenge commonly-held assumptions. The committee distinguishes ethnohistory from contemporary ethnography as the study of cultures and culture change through time. The grants are intended for such costs as travel, tapes, films, and consultants’ fees but not for the purchase of books or permanent equipment. The committee prefers to support the work of younger scholars who have received the doctorate. Applications are also accepted from graduate students for research on masters theses or doctoral dissertations. The committee sometimes approves two awards to the same person within a five-year period. The average award is about $2,500; grants do not exceed $3,500. Grants are given for one year following the date of the award.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA

ALBERT GALLATIN FELLOWSHIP IN INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

DUE: March 1
WRITE: Allen Lynch Center for Russian & E. European Studies, University of Virginia P.O. Box 400167 Charlottesville, VA 22904
