The Office of Research Administration is hosting an information session for junior faculty on

National Science Foundation (NSF) Early Career Development (CAREER) Program

Thursday
February 16, 2017, 10:00 a.m. - 11:30 a.m.

Dr. Diana Bratu (Department of Biological Sciences), Dr. Neepa Maitra (Department of Physics & Astronomy), and Dr. Mandë Holford (Department of Chemistry) are recipients of these award. They will be available to speak about their experiences.

ABOUT CAREER PROGRAM
- The Faculty Early Career Development (CAREER) Program is the National Science Foundation’s most prestigious award in support of junior faculty.
- The CAREER program supports the integration of research and education.

ELIGIBILITY
- Hold a tenure-track position as an assistant professor
- Be untenured until October 1 following the deadline; and
- Have not previously received a CAREER award.
- Have submitted no more than three NSF CAREER proposals.

GRANT SUBMISSION DEADLINES

|--------------|--------------|--------------|
| • Directorate for Biological Sciences
• Directorate for Computer & Information Science & Engineering
• Directorate for Education & Human Resources
Office of Cyberinfrastructure | • Directorate for Engineering | • Directorate for Geosciences
• Directorate for Mathematical & Physical Sciences
• Directorate for Social, Behavioral & Economic Sciences
Office of Polar Programs |

RSVP by February 15, 2017 to Sue Morales at smo0031@hunter.cuny.edu